News Release

Murata Power Solutions Appoints Worldwide Sales & Marketing Manager For the Hybrid Business Unit

Murata Power Solutions has appointed Ed LeGault to the position of Sales & Marketing Manager with worldwide responsibility for its Hybrid Business Unit. Based in Mansfield, Massachusetts, USA, the business unit offers an industry-leading range of high-performance hybrid data acquisition products for applications such as medical imaging, radar, sonar, communications and instrumentation.

LeGault has over 25 years experience working for manufacturers representatives selling hybrid and power products into high reliability markets such as military, aerospace and medical applications.

Commenting on Ed's appointment, Rob Hill, Business Lead, said: "I am looking forward to working with Ed in his new role. The technology and performance of these products is second-to-none. Coupling this with the long-term relationships that exist with many customers across the globe, and the reputation of this group for engineering excellence and responsiveness – I firmly believe Ed will continue to delight our existing customers – and welcome the opportunity to help new customers also."
